300 at-risk families receive free help modifying their home loans

More than 300 families at risk of foreclosure received free assistance with filing loan modification applications during the "Fix Your Mortgage" outreach event on March 27 in Chicago's Morgan Park community.

Homeowners received

Happy Easter

Today, I would like to wish all of the readers a Happy Easter. I hope you get a big basket filled with goodies from the Easter Bunny.

assistance and guidance from approximately 130 volunteer real estate attorneys and HUD-certified counselors.

The City of Chicago in partnership with Neighborhood Housing Services of Chicago (NHS) and Attorneys Title Guaranty Fund, Inc. (ATG) co-sponsored the foreclosure prevention event, the first of six "Fix Your Mortgage" events in 2010.

Homeowners Manny and Iliana Fernandez completed their loan modification application with help from Lisa Bennett, a volunteer from the Illinois Attorney General's Office. Last year, Mr. Fernandez's employer closed his business and he has since taken a lower-paying job. He and his wife, who works at an insurance agency, have a 13-year-old daughter.

"It was perfect timing for us," Mrs. Fernandez said of the event. "We already spent our savings and we now need to pick and choose which bills to pay." There should be no stigma for others in a similar spot, said Mr. Fernandez. "This is needed. Everybody needs help right now," he said.

"It was smooth sailing and painless," said Chicago homeowner Gloria Stevens of her experience. "The organized staff and use of electronic loan modification applications made it a very efficient process."

Additional "Fix Your Mortgage" events include April 24, 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Lane Tech High School, 2501 W. Addison and June 5, 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., Curie High School, 4959 S. Archer Avenue.

"We are honored to have Francis Cardinal George as our special guest for this anniversary event," said Dr. Kevin Dolehide, Port Ministries Vice President and Event Chair. The Port Ministries was founded in 1985 by Fr. Augustin Milon O.F.M and began as a soup kitchen to help the poor and homeless.

Over the past 25 years, Port Ministries has expanded into a multi-faceted ministry for the poor, homeless, families and children including a family and children supplemental education center, soup kitchen on wheels, home visiting of the elderly and shut-ins of the neighborhood and at the local nursing home, and a free clinic, which provides basic medical services to the areas poor and uninsured.

Burke focuses on area CAPS meetings

Chicago Police Officers (pictured above) lined up for their morning roll call outside the Columbia Explorers Academy in the Brighton Park community where police officials talked with parents and emphasized the need for community involvement in keeping children safe while students are out of school during Spring Break.

In a related matter, Alderman Edward M. Burke has announced that he plans to attend all CAPS meetings in the 14th

Ward over the next three months, starting in mid-April.

Residents living within Beat 821 are invited to join the alderman at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 15th at the CAPS meeting scheduled to be held inside the St. Bruno Church Hall, located at 4839 South Harding Avenue.

Flyers will be distributed in the area and residents will also receive recorded telephone calls urging them to attend their local CAPS meeting.

Lend Me Your Ear...

Greetings and salutations, fine readers of mine. Looks like 'mama' Editor has slashed my little corner once more, but Toots shall work with the program. Unfortunately (or fortunately for my readers) dear Madame Editor will have to forego her 'lesson of the week' - simply not enough room.

Last weekend was quite busy - Toots did get the Traffic School requirements fulfilled - Yay!! Toots also printed out her continuing education lessons - and found out that I have until the end of April. So you all know that I will be seriously considering doing something about it on April 29th or 30th. Regarding the preparation of income tax returns for the 'various enterprises' - well I thought about them.

So it appears that things are same old - same old. As my hero Mark Twain was credited with saying, "Never put off until tomorrow what you can do the day after tomorrow. Toots believes that this is a good thought, but what the heck do I know?"

And found some time to step out. Holy cheese rolls! Saturday found Toots and Significant Other (SO) enjoying a play presented by S.T.A.R. (Southwest Theatre Arts Resources). Seven mini-plays directed by Leo Rokicki and Laurie Reyna. What an enjoyable evening and extremely affordable. For details, check out chicagostar.org. Afterwards, Toots and SO were invited to join the crew for some celebrating - Thanks guys, had a great time! On Sunday Toots and SO enjoyed some great music courtesy of the Rock & Roll Club at St. Laurence High School. These kids rock!!

*'til next week...

Easter Sunday

by Cleatus (Cherokee Lee) Murdaugh

Easter's a very important day
From what I am told
The Churches prepare programs
For us all to behold.

It's the death and resurrection
Of Jesus Christ
They did it since the start of time
And always sufficed.

Our Mom would let us help her
Easter Sunday morn
Coloring all the pretty eggs
Ever since I was born.

We'd always have an egg hunt
My older brother and I
Mom and Dad were always sure
We had a good supply.

They went out in the back yard
Where we couldn't see
And hide them in the bushes
Around the old oak tree.

After giving us each a basket
Out the door we'd go
And we wouldn't come back in
Til they would over flow.

Now I really do miss those days
They are in the past
But my love for Easter Sunday
That will always last.

Why Not Make It A Googol?

Life is numbers-oriented. Salary, age, and blood pressure are best described with digits, not adjectives or prepositions.

Numbers take on a life of their own. One is the loneliest number. Poor thirteen is cruelly branded as unlucky. Celebrities die in threes and the socially inept hand out high-fives. Some numbers are awkward (hello 37) others are lean (looking good 11). Other numbers like 64 are comfortable beyond belief.

Comfortable in the 64 teams that annually make the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament. Stop gnashing your teeth and disregard the team that loses the play-in game. Their tournament ended before it began.

The bracket is a picture of majesty, with 32 universities lining the right and left side of the paper. Mute the robins and lay down the turf. For all that's important, I consider the sheet first official sign of spring.

Even with all the beauty in the world that can fit on an 8.5 x 11 piece of paper, some badly want to improve the image. Not all people are satisfied with what the 64-team tournament brings to their March. These are the same people who flirt with the idea of adding Rod Roddy to Mt. Rushmore or drawing a unibrow on The Mona Lisa. The tinkering types badly want to expand the tournament to 96 teams by 2011. Everyone knows the motivation for expansion is a money-grab for all parties involved, but that doesn't mean I have to agree with the idea or pretend to see any positives in it. The expansion would unsettle an appealing consistency that the tournament brings.

The routine begins on Selection Sunday where a team like Illinois receives affirmation after affirmation from all corners proclaiming the Illini the likely recipients of an at-large bid. The excitement builds to a point of nervousness.

Eventually disappointment knocks out nervousness and the selection committee wanted nothing to do with a team that closed out the regular season poorly.

In the newly fangled format, Illinois would have made the tournament as one of 96 teams, all but eliminating the relevance of the regular season (and granting eternal optimism to all DePaul fans). Gone is the magic of making the tournament. What was once an invitation to join a country club became a flyer to join Sam's Club.

Teams would be rewarded for a mediocre regular season with an NCAA Tournament bid if the nightmare is true. The mantra of "Do the deed, earn the seed," becomes all but extinct.

It's so nice to see all the wonderful Easter decorations in the windows of homes and businesses. The images of sweet little bunnies of every shape and size are just too much for many people to resist. How about the gorgeous little yellow chicks that are so small they can be held in the palm of your hand. Many people at Easter time decide to give their loved one a live bunny or chick as a pet. All during the Holiday the little critter is the center of attention and oohed and ahed over by the children and adults. There are many hands available to pet, feed and supply fresh water. Everyone is waiting their turn to take care of the new little family member. Flash forward a few months and many of these little bunnies and chicks, who now are not so little and cute anymore find themselves in a cold dark cage hoping that someone will remember to give them some food and water.

It's a fantastic idea to introduce your children to the joy of Animal Guardianship if you are ready to make a commitment to care for a rabbit or chick or other little creature for their lifetime, long after the frills of the Holiday passes away. Then by all means go ahead and adopt a bunny or chick or guinea pig etc, the shelters are loaded with them. These former pets are desperately waiting for a forever home. Cute little bunnies and chicks and other Easter animals are killed by the thousands every year at shelters where people dump them after the Holiday.

Please give a home to a deserving animal at Easter time or anytime during the year. Be prepared to make a forever commitment. Remember, these are living breathing creatures with feelings. Animals are NOT things to play with during holidays and when it's convenient. Teach your children to be loving and responsible Animal Guardians. Go to your local animal shelter and bring home a new family member for Easter. Save a life and enrich your own.

As always to check for lost pets or to adopt go to Animal Care and Control, 2741 S. Western, 312-747-1406; or Animal Welfare, 10305 Southwest Highway, 708-636-8586 or 6224 S. Wabash, 773-667-0088 or the Anti-Cruelty Society at 510 N.

LaSalle 312-644-8338. There are many animals waiting and hoping for a forever home. They don't have long because these are KILL shelters. They Kill (euthanize) animals due to the high volume of animals being dumped at shelters. DON'T EVER ASSUME A SHELTER IS NO KILL.

If your pet gets lost-GO TO the shelters everyday and check. Don't take the chance that your pet may be euthanized (killed) because no one came to claim them. Don't Give Up Looking For Your Pet. Go Door To Door! Put Up Posters. Call Your Local Police Station (Not 911). Keep Looking - They Would!!!!

Bless All Creatures - Great & Small

2010 Census tips for the public

With the U.S. Census process beginning, BBB advises people to be cooperative, but cautious, so as not to become a victim of fraud or identity theft.

If a U.S. Census Bureau employee knocks on your door, here are some recognition tips to assure the validity of the field representative: The field representative must present an ID badge that contains a Department of Commerce watermark and expiration date. The field representative may also be carrying a bag with a Census Bureau logo. The field representative will provide you with supervisor contact information and/or the Regional Office phone number for verification, if asked.

From April to July 2010, the Census Bureau will knock on the door of every household that does not mail back a completed 2010 Census form. It's critical that you take just 10 minutes to fill out and mail back your form rather than wait for a census worker to show up on your doorstep. About $85 million in taxpayer dollars are saved for every one percent increase in mail response. The Census Bureau must get a census form to - and a completed form back from - every residence in the United States. That's more than 130 million addresses. This is why the census is the largest domestic mobilization our nation undertakes. Field representatives will never ask you for your social security number, bank account number, or credit card number. For information, visit www.census.gov/2010census

A Teacher's Challenge

I often face a quandary with my guitar students. I assign a lesson out of the book and show them how to do it. And they come back the following week and maybe they can kinda sorta do it, but not very good. So we spend some time on it and I assign it again. And they return the next week and maybe they are marginally better.

So what do I do? On the one hand we may be talking about a very basic skill that is necessary to proceed. If I keep assigning it week after week after week the student is going to get bored and quit. And I don't want that to happen. Yes, I make part of my living as a teacher, but this is much more to me than just a financial consideration. My goal is to turn these kids into guitar players. The last thing I want to do is to discourage the next Jimi Hendrix from becoming a musician.

So I might say, "Okay, keep working on this a bit, but let's move on to the next lesson." That way they can feel like they're making some progress. If that doesn't work I might stop working in the book and try and teach them a simple song. And then try and relate the song to the skills we were working on in the book.

With my more talented students I sometimes have a different standard. They may come back the next week and do their lesson pretty good. But I might re-assign the lesson and tell them that I think they can do it better. And I'll tell them that I'm being fussier with them than with some of my other students because I think they have what it takes to be really good.

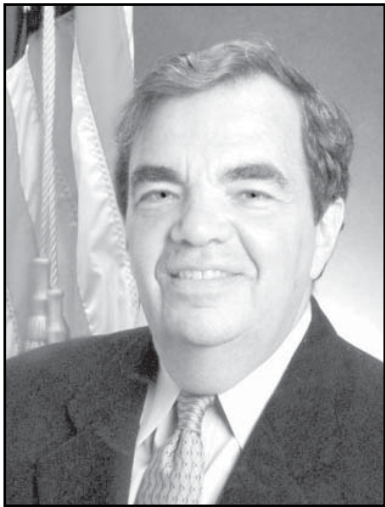

My challenge is to try and read the students. And to know when to push them and when to lay back a little. Everyone comes into lessons and wants to play "Stairway To Heaven" right away. But that's not going to happen. First you have to train your fingers to do things that they just naturally don't want to do. It is boring, repetitious work and I have to somehow figure out a way to make it fun and exciting.

And it is not really a matter of talent. It is more a matter of persistence. As long as someone is willing to work at it, I can turn them into a pretty good guitar player. I have a student right now that I didn't think was going to make it. The first six months of lessons we progressed very slowly. And then all of a sudden we started progressing much faster. I can see that he started putting a lot more work and effort into guitar. I don't know if it was something I said. Or maybe his fingers started working better and it became more interesting. Or maybe he realized that yeah, this is work, but it's fun work. All I know is that he's progressing as fast as I can throw stuff at him.

My challenge as a music teacher is to figure out each one of my students as the unique individual that they are. And to find the best way to challenge and inspire each student and nurture their passion for music. To be honest, I am disappointed every time a student quits. I hope that they carry on with music on their own or later on. But my disappointments are more than outweighed by the students that continue and grow with their music. And the former students that come back and tell me about their successes.

Police charge man in string of armed robberies

The Chicago Police Department announces charges against a 21-year-old man for a series of armed robberies of Auto Parts and Dollar Stores that occurred in the past few months. Shawn Turner Jr., of the 7100 block of S. Carpenter, was charged with eight counts of Armed Robbery with a Firearm.

A collaborative investigation by Area One and Area Two Detectives determined that Turner committed numerous armed robberies dating back to Dec. 2009. Turner would enter the businesses, inquire about car parts or act as if making a purchase, announce a robbery at gun point, and flee in a vehicle.

On March 27, 2010 at approximately 3:30 p.m., Turner entered an Auto Parts store in the 4500 block of S. Cicero and inquired about auto parts for an Olds Delta 88. Alert employees of the store recognized that request as being the same one used in several incidents mentioned in the robbery pattern and quickly called police after they determined that Turner also matched the physical description of the suspect in the business alerts. Chicago Lawn officers caught up to him as he was attempting to get into a vehicle. Turner was taken into custody, identified in line-ups, and charged accordingly. A weapon was recovered.

Due to the exceptional awareness portrayed by store employees, prompt response by police, and joint investigative efforts by Detectives from Area One and Area Two, a dangerous criminal was removed from the streets of Chicago. Additional charges of Armed Robbery may be filed by the States Attorney at a later time. Turner was scheduled to appear in Central Bond Court at 26th and California.

Exceptional Chicago police officers honored

Recently, Chicago Police Superintendent Jody P. Weis presented awards to exceptional officers at the Superintendent's Monthly Departmental Commendation Ceremony. The event acknowledges officers who have distinguished themselves and the Chicago Police Department by their heroic deeds and praiseworthy accomplishments. Among the 189 awardees:

A Department Commendation was presented to Officers Ryan Brown, Damen Balesteri, Mark Brown, Stephanie Doyle, Maureen Falk, Michal Kril, Brandon Rodekohl and Marcus Broadway for their bravery during an encounter with an armed offender. Officers responded to a call of "Shots Fired" and arrived to discover a victim had been shot. Medical attention was summoned as the officers entered the apartment and observed two subjects fleeing from a rear bedroom window and a third offender holding victims hostage at gunpoint. Officers were able to take the third offender into custody. Responding units apprehended the two fleeing subjects. The offenders took cash and other valuables from the victims. Proceeds and evidence recovered included: 3 semi-automatic handguns, $3,186.00 USC, 66 grams of cocaine and 82 grams of cannabis. All three offenders were charged with Home Invasion and various narcotics charges, and one offender was charged with Aggravated Battery with a Firearm.

A Life-Saving Award was presented to Officer Robert Gamez for his heroics and quick action in coming to the aid of a citizen. A male passenger collapsed at Midway Airport and appeared to be suffering from a heart attack. Officer Gamez quickly assessed the situation and, with the aid of another passenger, applied the Automated External Defibrillator (AED) device and began administering CPR. As the ailing passenger had gone into cardiac arrest, Officer Gamez properly administered the shock, reviving the subject. As a result of his quick thinking and skill, the passenger was taken to a local hospital where he was treated.

A Department Commendation was presented to Sergeant Sandy Mazur and Officers Renee Gonzalez, Clarence Hubbard, Michael Kelly, Cory Wojtkiewicz, Jeffrey Aaron and Jose Hernandez for their determination, dedication and investigative skills. Officers became aware of a pattern of armed robberies of convenience stores. In one of the robberies, a description of the getaway vehicle was given. An informational interview with the owner of the vehicle was conducted, along with additional follow-up investigations, photo line-ups, and review of surveillance tapes. After several weeks, the offender was located, taken into custody and positively identified. The arrestee was charged with one count of Aggravated Robbery, one count of Robbery with a Firearm, three counts of Armed Robbery with a Dangerous Weapon, and one count of Attempt Aggravated Robbery.

Editor's Mailbag...

Dear Editor,

I am very upset and angry after hearing that California wants to legalize Pot. This is a terrible decision because if it gets passed, the rest of the states will probably follow them by putting it on their ballots. For medical purposes this is just fine. However, there are many young adults and men almost 50 who will grab the chance to buy it legally. This is a poor example to set for the children and grandchildren that it is okay when it is not okay.

We now have a smoke free law that prohibits smokers and cigar smokers to smoke in a public meeting place. Our own president is addicted to smoking cigarettes and just cannot break his habit. I also read that the late Jackie Kennedy Onassis was a closet smoker as well as the late wife of John Kennedy Jr. who perished in a plane crash 11 years ago.

We finally got those cigarette commercials off of TV and it is estimated that about 3,000 young adults start smoking every day. Second hand smoke is not good either even if you are outside with the smokers. It is our responsibility as a country not to promote Pot or cigarette smoking. I have never smoked but other relatives in my family did as far back as the 1950's when TV advertisers were the tobacco companies.

Path of Life

by Joseph A. Syslo, Sr.

Love is the Path of Life,
when happiness
Comes your way;

When flowers bloom,
And everyone is happy and gay.

When fortune smiles and dark clouds disappear;

When in his arms he whispers,
"I Love Your, Dear".
